UNIVERSITY of NORTH CAROLINA
PEMBROKE

Assistant Professor of Sociology and Criminal Justice

The Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice invites applications for one tenure track Assistant Professor of Sociology and Criminal Justice position for Fall 2018.

Teach introductory level, intermediate, and advanced courses in sociology, criminology, and criminal justice. Opportunities may be available to teach graduate courses in sociology and criminal justice. This position may require teaching and advising assignments at off-campus satellite programs. Serve as faculty adviser to students. Perform administrative tasks as directed by the department chair.

Engage is scholarship including, but not limited to professional publications, conference presentations, and grant acquisition.
Engage with the campus community by participation if department and university-wide committees. Engage is community activities relevant to the local community and the region.

The University of North Carolina at Pembroke is one of the seventeen member institutions in the University of North Carolina system. The university is rapidly growing in size and offers numerous opportunities for creative teaching, including on-line courses, as well advancement of scholarship. For more detailed information about the university, its faculty and programs, view our web site at http://www.uncp.edu.

Minimum Training and Experience Requirements: At the time of appointment, the successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in sociology supplemented by 18 graduate credit hours in criminology or criminal justice, or a Ph.D. in criminology or criminal justice, supplemented by 18 graduate credit hours of sociology. A juris doctorate and/or a doctorate in education will not be considered. All awarded degrees must be from regionally accredited colleges or universities.

Management Preference: Prefer an individual capable and willing to teach both sociology and criminal justice courses.

Special Instructions to Applicants: Application shall be made only online at http://www.uncp.edu/hr/. Do not send reference letters or official transcripts until requested to do so.

Application review will begin on immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Contact: Dr. Mario Paparozzi, Chair
Sociology and Criminal Justice Department
The University of North Carolina at Pembroke

This position is subject to the successful completion of an employment background check. An employment background check includes a criminal background check, employment verification, reference checks, license verification (if applicable) and credit history check (if applicable).

In compliance with federal law, all persons hired will be required to verify identity and eligibility to work in the United States and to complete the required employment eligibility verification form upon hire. New employees are paid only by direct deposit to the financial institution of their choice. Candidates claiming Veterans Preference must attach a copy of their DD-214 as a part of the online application process.

Per the requirements of the Clery Act of 1998, the Campus Security Report can be found at: http://www.uncp.edu/about-uncp/administration/departments/title-ix-clery-compliance/annual-security-reports

UNC Pembroke is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The University prohibits discrimination against qualified individuals based on their status as protected veterans or individuals with disabilities, and prohibits discrimination against all individuals based on their age, race, color, genetic information, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or national origin. UNC Pembroke is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and seeks priority referrals of protected veterans for our openings.

Applicants needing assistance with or who have questions about the application process are asked to contact Joanne McMillan, HR Consultant for Employment at (910) 521-6279 or joanneb.mcmillan@uncp.edu