

Service Animals in Training

North Carolina State Law states that an animal in training to become a service animal may be taken into any of the places listed in G.S. 168-3

- for the purpose of training
- when the animal is accompanied by a person who is training the service animal and
- the animal wears a collar and leash, harness, or cape that identifies the animal as a service animal in training.

A Service-Dog-in-Training is a dog accompanied by its trainer (“a person training a service animal”) that is undergoing individual training to provide specific disability-related work or service for an individual with a disability. This does not include obedience training or socialization of dogs who may later become service animals. A service animal trainer may bring such dog onto campus public areas for the purpose of work tasks training if it is properly identified as a service animal in training.
