

You are invited to attend UNCP's first
Graduate Research and Writing Academy
Saturday, February 25
9:00 am until 12:00 noon
UNCP's Mary Livermore Library, room 203

This Academy is aimed at helping UNCP graduate students develop professional writing and research skills needed for their coursework and future research and publications.

Topics will include: effective topic development; effective search techniques; reading and responding to academic texts; summarizing, paraphrasing, and quoting; setting goals and forming writing groups. Discipline-specific research tools will be discussed and demonstrated.

Space is limited to the first 30 UNCP graduate students who register.

Register by sending your name, program area and email address (if different from the one you are using) to grad@uncp.edu.

Contact the Graduate School office with any questions (910.521.6271).