"A Springtime Showcase @ the Library!"

by Susan F. Whitt

It's time to celebrate the arrival of spring, so "spring" into the season at the Sampson-Livermore Library when the Friends of the Library host "A Springtime Showcase @ the Library!" This will be their fifth annual benefit and will showcase the musical talents of three Miss UNCPs who are current students. Exciting silent and live auctions will again be featured. As always, there will be a delicious and tempting assortment of food for the guests.

The evening will begin with a silent auction and dinner period. During this time the music of Dr. Larry Arnold and the UNCP Jazz Group and the UNCP String Chamber Ensemble will provide entertainment for the guests. Cindy Saylor, Assistant Dean for Research Services and Systems at the Sampson-Livermore Library, has agreed to return this year as auctioneer. Her persuasive and entertaining auctioneering skills should prove to be a highlight of the evening.

The silent and live auctions will provide an opportunity for ticket holders to take home some unique and interesting items. Among the items offered are airline tickets and other travel opportunities; Richard Petty memorabilia; pieces of art including some by UNCP faculty; North Carolina pottery; gift baskets; food packages; golf packages; jewelry; hand-crafted items such as clocks, needlework treasures, and a multifamily birdhouse complex; and tickets to North Carolina attractions such as Biltmore House. A current list of auction items is available from the Library's website at www.uncp.edu/library. The list is updated as new donations for the benefit are received.

Our featured performers are Miss UNCP 2003 Robyn Grace Baker, Miss UNCP 2004 Jessica Ortiz-Carrero, and Miss UNCP 2005 Morgan Hunt. They will provide entertainment that will feature their impressive musical talents. While Miss UNCP 2006 Jorgiana Martin was originally scheduled to appear at the Library's benefit, she was notified in late March that she had to be in Raleigh on April 20-21 in order to prepare for the Miss North Carolina pageant. We are excited to be able to showcase UNCP's own outstanding students.

"A Springtime Showcase @ the Library!" will be an excellent way to enjoy the arrival of spring. Money raised at this benefit will support the Springtime is always exciting at the Sampson-Livermore Library, and spring 2006 is no exception. At this writing, students are preparing major semester papers and projects and looking forward to Spring Break, some also to commencement in May. National Library Week always comes in April and our library is pleased to observe this annual opportunity to focus attention on the value of libraries in the American society and to this campus in particular.

Friends of the Library Board of Directors members and library staff are preparing for another exciting benefit event, this year planned for April 21 and called "A Springtime Showcase @ the Library!" I am very grateful for the volunteers who serve on our Board of Directors as well as a dedicated staff who believe in the value of the mission of the Sampson-Livermore Library.

We members of the Board of Directors of the Friends of the Library and the staff of the Sampson-Livermore Library invite you to catch spring fever and join us in the special events planned for spring 2006.

Intellectual Freedom Is a Core Value

Message from the FOL President

Since the beginning of our human historical record, people have been vilified, ostracized, and crucified for what they have expressed in writing. Across the broad span of human history, books have been challenged, censored, and banned more than any other mass medium.

Many reasons have been put forth for banning books: the publication of political or sexual expression and the use of language offensive to another's race, ethnicity, culture, gender, sexuality, or religion. Materials considered by some to be heretical, blasphemous, seditious, or obscene often are censored or banned.

For example, during discussions about censorship, today's students usually find it odd that somewhere in America the children's folktale Little Red Riding Hood has been a banned book.

Check out Banned Books Online at <http://digital.library.upenn.edu/books/banned-books.html>. There you'll find that an illustrated edition of Little Red Riding Hood was banned from two California school districts in 1989 because the book showed the heroine taking food and wine to her grandmother. The schools were concerned about the use of alcohol.

Other banned books include, to name but a very few, Twain's Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, Eliot's Silas Marner, Mitchell's Gone With the Wind, Whitman's Leaves of Grass, Shakespeare's Hamlet, Macbeth, King Lear, Twelfth Night, and The Merchant of Venice.

FOL President

Generally, those who want to ban certain books think of themselves as sincere, concerned individuals who want to raise moral values, improve society, and protect children and others from exposure to information deemed dangerous. Fortunately for those who disagree with their characterizations, the First Amendment to the United States Constitution gives each of us the right to read, view, listen to, and disseminate constitutionally protected ideas, no matter how offensive others may judge them to be.

We're faced with this conundrum: When would-be censors express their opinions, they are exercising the same rights others protect as they confront censorship. When would-be censors make their criticisms known, they are exercising the same rights as those who created and disseminated the material to which they object. Their right to voice opinions and try to persuade others to adopt those opinions is protected just as the rights of disseminators of information are protected.

What should we do? Uphold the intellectual freedom to hold, receive, and disseminate ideas. Make sure that every individual can seek and receive information from all points of view without restriction. Provide free access to all expressions of ideas through which all sides of a question may be explored.

I'm reminded that U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas more than 50 years ago said, "Restriction of free thought and free speech is the most dangerous of all subversions. It is the one un-American act that could most easily defeat us."

After all, intellectual freedom is the heart of our democratic system. To self-govern responsibly, we must be well-informed. Libraries, like our own Sampson-Livermore Library, provide the ideas and information we need to learn and inform ourselves.

President John F. Kennedy said, "Liberty without learning is always in peril and learning without liberty is always in vain."

For their contributions to my understanding of contemporary elements of this issue, I'm grateful to the American Library Association, the Loyola University Chicago Libraries, the University of Pennsylvania, Fordham University, the Media Coalition Inc., the Internet Public Library, Neiman Reports, and a variety of other sources. –Tony Curtis

Sampson-Livermore Library Management Restructured

by Anne H. Coleman

Recently there has been a reorganization in the structure of the management of the Sampson-Livermore Library. Upon the recommendation of Provost Charles Harrington, which was subsequently approved by Chancellor Allen Meadors, Dr. Elinor Foster's title was changed from University Librarian to Dean of Library Services, effective January 1, 2006.

Dr. Elinor Foster,
Dean of Library Services

Dr. Foster earned a Master in Library Science and a Doctorate in Education in higher education administration from UNC Greensboro. Her undergraduate degree, in English, was received from Wake Forest University. She has worked in the public schools, community colleges, and universities, so she has had experience in a number of academic and library settings. She directed the Sampson-Livermore Library from 1989-1993 and returned in 1999 to the University after a five-year stint as Library Director at the University of Texas-Pan American.

Effective February 14, 2006, two Assistant Deans were appointed to assist the management team of the UNCP library. Dr. Foster requested the addition of Assistant Deans to the organizational structure of Sampson-Livermore Library because as the library staff grew in numbers she saw a need to provide more direct administrative guidance and contact opportunities for librarians other than from herself. The number of staff librarians has grown from eight in 1999 to the current 13 positions (including Dr. Foster). The increase in the number of librarians has become necessary due to the heightened volume of duties and responsibilities now handled by library staff because of enrollment growth patterns, as well as the increasing complexity of library services and resources now available to library users, especially in the realm of electronic resources. Dr. Foster is quick to acknowledge that it has been gratifying that the Library has been able to add staff positions due to the enrollment growth funds that were provided to the Library, and adds that the growth pattern created a need for greater depth in the administrative leadership at the Library.

Fortunately there were capable and experienced librarians already on the library staff who were willing to take on additional duties and share their expertise with their fellow librarians and library staff members. When asked to do so by Dr. Foster, following approval of the reorganization plan by Provost Harrington and Chancellor Meadors, two librarians, Cynthia E. Saylor and Susan F. Whitt, accepted new and expanded responsibilities.

Susan F. Whitt
Assistant Dean for Collection Management
and Acquisitions

Under the new management organization, Cindy Saylor has been named Assistant Dean for Research Services and Systems. Cindy will manage library public services and access to information resources, as well as continue to coordinate all electronic technologies associated with library services. Cindy came to UNCP in 1996 as Instructional Services/Reference Librarian and in 2002 was named Systems Librarian, in charge of managing the Library's website and computing services. Cindy received a Master in Library and Information Studies from UNC Greensboro and a Bachelor of Arts in Education from the current University of Virginia's College of Wise.

Susan Whitt has been named Assistant Dean for Collection Management and Acquisitions. Susan will manage the growth and development of the Library's collection, including books, serials, and electronic databases. Susan came to UNCP in 1990 as the Automated Public Services Librarian; then she, too, spent several years in Texas, from 1994-1999, where she was a branch manager for the Harris County Public Library System. In 1999, Susan returned to UNCP as Reference/Instructional Services Librarian, and in 2002 she was named Acquisitions/Collection Development Librarian. Susan is a graduate of UNC Greensboro and received a Master of Library Science from N.C.

Central University and a Bachelor of Arts in political science from UNC Greensboro. Her prior professional experience ranges from public libraries to public school and community college libraries.

Dr. Foster is confident that the new organizational structure will serve the Library well in purposefully moving forward to a dynamic and productive future.

NC LIVE Makes Resource Changes

by Michael Alewine and Robert Arndt

NC LIVE (North Carolina Libraries In Virtual Education), the statewide educational consortium, acquired new databases and made major upgrades to existing database titles. While NC LIVE dropped some databases, the overall coverage has greatly increased with the upgrades and new acquisitions. A few of the changes are highlighted below:

Academic Search Premier and Business Source Premier

The upgrade from Academic Search Elite and Business Source Elite to the Premier products is probably the most significant change made by NC LIVE. The Premier products provide expanded coverage, including backfiles, increased full text, and greater access to scholarly peer-reviewed sources.

Academic Search Premier contains indexing for 8,030 publications, with full text for 4,459 of those titles. Over 100 of these titles have PDF backfiles to 1975 or further. Academic Search Premier also provides searchable cited references for more than 1,000 titles. Academic Search Premier replaces the need for a number of databases that were dropped by NC LIVE: American Humanities Index, Expanded Academic Index ASAP, InfoTrac OneFile, and InfoTrac Professional Custom Journals.

Business Source Premier provides the full text for over 8,800 serials, with some full text reaching back to 1965. Business Source Premier provides coverage of other titles that were dropped by NC LIVE: ABI/Inform Archive, ABI/Inform Complete, ABI/Inform Global, ABI/Inform Trade and Industry, and Hoovers Company Records. Access to Business Source Premier also includes access to Regional Business News, which provides the full text for over 50 regional business publications.

CAMIO (Catalog of Art Museum Images Online)

CAMIO provides rights-cleared access to more than 80,000 high-quality art images that can be used by faculty and students for group projects, course lectures, course Web sites, lectures, presentations. CAMIO allows searching by artist, style or period, date and type of object.

CINAHL Plus with Full Text

NC LIVE upgraded CINAHL to CINAHL with Full Text. Sampson-Livermore Library then upgraded CINAHL with Full Text to CINAHL Plus with Full Text, which covers nursing, biomedicine, health sciences librarianship, alternative/complementary medicine, consumer health and allied health disciplines. CINAHL Plus with Full Text provides full text for over 300 journals with PDF backfiles to 1937. In addition, this database offers access to books and dissertations in medical fields, selected conference proceedings, nursing and health care standards, educational software, audiovisuals and book chapters. Evidence-Based Care Sheets and Quick Lessons provide brief overviews of care for selected illnesses and conditions. CINAHL Plus with Full Text includes PreCINAHL, which provides access to new article citations prior to full inclusion in CINAHL.

Morningstar Library Edition

Morningstar Library Edition provides mutual fund and stock information commonly used by students and investors. Coverage includes information on more than 16,000 mutual funds, 6,000 stocks, 2,000 fund analyst reports, and over 1,400 stock analyst reports.

Sampson-Livermore Library acquires many non-NC LIVE electronic resources which support the educational and research needs of the University community. Assistance with all library electronic resources is available via Reference Services.

Visitors from China

Visiting UNC Pembroke February 20-23, 2006 were Mr. Fan Yujing, Professor and Librarian, and Mr. Li Changyu, Associate Professor of Foreign Languages. Both are on the faculty of the North China Institute of Science and Technology, one of UNCP's international partners in distance education. While in the area, the visitors toured the libraries of UNC Wilmington and Fayetteville State University, as well as the Sampson-Livermore Library.

Staffing Updates and Service Recognitions

by Anne H. Coleman and David W. Young

New Positions

Eric Chavis, who was hired as the Library Assistant for Access Services on February 1, 2006, is a veteran Library employee and a UNCP graduate. From 1994 to 2003, Eric worked part-time in the Library in the evening and on weekends. This was in addition to his work with the Public Schools of Robeson County. In 2003, Eric moved to Columbia, South Carolina to work for the Social Security Administration for two years. While with the SSA, Eric assisted in determining claimants' eligibility for disability. On returning to Pembroke, Eric applied and was hired for a full-time position in the Library. In his new position, Eric performs online system functions that pertain to Circulation, provides assistance at the Circulation Desk, makes deposits, maintains the sorting area, and prepares circulation reports. Eric was born and reared in the Prospect community and still lives there. Eric says that the best thing about his job is serving the public. Having worked so many years in the Library, he is very good at providing excellent access services to the UNCP community.

Carl Danis, who has served as the Instructional Services/Reference Librarian since October 2002, has moved to a new position. Carl is now the Collection Development/Electronic Resources Librarian. In his new position, Carl will work closely with the academic departments and library staff to continue to build and maintain an outstanding research collection. Carl is a knowledgeable and experienced academician who is particularly well-suited to spearhead collection development at the Sampson-Livermore Library. Carl has earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science from UNC Greensboro, a Master of Science in administration from Central Michigan University, and a Master of Science in Library Science from UNC Chapel Hill. Before coming to UNCP, Carl worked as a Reference/Instructional Services Librarian at California State University, Chico. Carl lives with his wife and step-daughter in Lumberton, North Carolina. When he is not evaluating the collection and electronic resources, Carl enjoys going to the beach and the movies with his family.

Penny Locklear, another seasoned library employee, has moved to a new position in the Library. Penny had worked at the Library as a Library Assistant for just over four years when she was promoted to a Library Technical Assistant I. Now she has accepted a position in the interlibrary loan (ILL) area as Library Technical Assistant I for Document Delivery/Borrowing. In this position, Penny will oversee the borrowing of books, articles, microfilm, etc. from other libraries. Before coming to the Sampson-Livermore Library, Penny worked in the media centers at Union Chapel Elementary School and Piney Grove Elementary School. Penny is married and has two children, Carey and Madison. When she is not busy at work or at home, Penny enjoys reading and shopping.

Jessica L. Schirmer has accepted a position on the library staff as the Systems Library Technical Assistant I. Jessica, who recently graduated from UNCP with a Bachelor of Science in Computer Science, was a student worker in the Sampson-Livermore Library for over three years. In her new position, Jessica installs, maintains, and troubleshoots library software and hardware. She also maintains the inventory of library equipment. Jessica is from a military family, so she has lived in several different places around the world. She has two older sisters, one younger brother, and two younger sisters. Her parents and younger siblings currently reside at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. Jessica lives in Pembroke. When she is relaxing, Jessica likes to roller blade, read, bake and decorate cakes, or play World of Warcraft, a computer game. Jessica's favorite motto is "Never give up!"

Recognitions

Rachel Nichol Blanton ("Nickie") was recognized recently for five years of service to the University. Nickie's job title is Government Documents Library Assistant and she has been employed at the Library since August 1, 2000. Originally from St. Pauls, North Carolina and still residing there, Nickie has one sister (Becky) and both parents living nearby. She has several job responsibilities including the processing, filing, routing, maintenance, and deselection of government documents from the collection. The biggest change that Nickie has witnessed during her time at the Library has been the inclusion of government documents in the online catalog (BraveCat). She states that "it is nice to see the people take advantage of the documents more and more." Apart from her job duties, Nickie has served the Library by being a member at various times of the following committees: Friends of the Library, National Library Week, Publications, Social Concerns, Staff Development, Planning, and Arts and Displays. She also held the position of Secretary for the Friends of the Library organization for several years.

Ester Oxendine Hedrick was also honored for five years of service to UNCP. She has been at the Library since September 15, 2000 and serves as Circulation Clerk III. Ester's primary job duties include providing circulation assistance for patrons, locating available items on the shelves, checking in/checking out materials, and collecting fines from patrons. The biggest change that Ester has seen is the emergence of the ability to check out laptop computers and videos/DVDs from the Library. Ester was born in Robeson County and resides just a few miles from downtown Pembroke. She is an active member of the National Library Week Committee. Her favorite hobbies are "watching basketball or baseball as well as spending time with my sisters and grandchildren."

Tela Brooks was recognized for 15 years of service to the University. Tela's job title is Library Technical Assistant I for Interlibrary Loan/Lending. She joined the Sampson-Livermore Library staff full time in October 1989. She savors the chance to "supply patrons with materials that they are in desperate need of at the Library." The major change that Tela has seen over her years of service was the new addition to the Library that was completed in 1997. Tela is an active member of the National Library Week Committee and enjoys quilting as a hobby.

A New Arrival

June Power, Access Services/Reference Librarian, welcomed a new addition to her family recently. Kathryn Taylor (Katie) Power was born on January 9, 2006. Both mother and daughter are doing fine.

Special Collections Room Named for University Donor

by Elinor Folger Foster

A gift to the University in December 2005 from Charles and Betty Bridger of Bladen County has resulted in the naming of the Special Collections area of the Sampson-Livermore Library (Room 144) as the Betty Fletcher Bridger Special Collections Room. A plaque will be placed in this room, which houses rare materials associated with the growth and development of UNC Pembroke and Robeson County throughout their commingled histories.

Mrs. Bridger, a 1973 graduate of UNC Pembroke, stated in a conversation with Dr. Elinor Foster January 30, 2006 that she designated the Library as the recipient of the gift she and her husband provided because "libraries are important places for learning and not everything students need to know can be obtained from computers." Furthermore, Mrs. Bridger continued, "Pembroke is so important for this area. It provides a chance for people from this area to go to school who might not otherwise have the chance to attend college."

Library staff certainly appreciates the gift from Mr. and Mrs. Bridger and heartily endorses the concepts expressed by Betty Bridger in her comments about their gift to the University. Plans are to use the gift to enhance collections and scholarship opportunities, as advised by the Board of Directors of the Friends of the Library of UNC Pembroke.

Sampson-Livermore Library Receives Gift from Dr. Rundus

by Lillian Brewington

Dr. Raymond J. Rundus, retired UNCP Professor Emeritus from the English, Theatre, and Languages Department, recently donated his personal collection used in researching Robeson County native, Joseph Mitchell. The collection includes books, correspondence, and background information on Mr. Mitchell. Dr. Rundus was instrumental in obtaining a collection of signed, first edition Joseph Mitchell books from the Robeson County Public Library in 2002. This collection is on permanent loan and currently housed in the Sampson-Livermore Library's Special Collections area.

Dr. Rundus's longtime interest in Mr. Mitchell prompted him to write two books: Joseph Mitchell: Pilgrim in Manhattan and Joseph Mitchell: A Reader's and Writer's Guide. Mr. Mitchell was born in Fairmont in 1908 where he lived until his relocation to New York in 1928. He spent 58 years as a writer for The New Yorker while maintaining family ties in the Robeson County area.

Dr. Rundus received his Ph.D. from Wayne State University. He came to UNC Pembroke as chair of the English Department in 1970 and retired as Professor Emeritus in 1996. Dr. Rundus served as President of the Friends of the Library for two terms and continues to be a supportive member.

In addition to the two books on Joseph Mitchell, Dr. Rundus has published poetry and literary articles, and has presented papers at local, state, and regional meetings. His major interests are literary journalism and the sonnet as a poetic form.

The usability and insight of Dr. Rundus's donation will be especially helpful to scholars researching Joseph Mitchell and notable Robeson County literary figures. It can also be a useful tool for anyone conducting research and planning to publish. Dr. Rundus carefully documented his research process as he wrote his two books. These materials can serve as a procedural guide for the novice researcher. The Library is delighted to house this special collection.

Change Your World @ Your Library

by Jean E. Sexton

The Sampson-Livermore Library invites you to change your world throughout the year, but each year during National Library Week, the focus becomes more intense. There are activities planned throughout the week of April 2-8, 2006.

A display case highlighting campus authors will be ready for viewing.

The week will open with a book sale that opens on April 3, 2006 at 9:00 a.m. upstairs in the Library and is open to the Friends of the Library members only. The sale closes that day at 7:00 p.m. The following day the sale is open to all and again starts at 9:00 a.m. and ends at 7:00 p.m.

On Wednesday through Friday, the book sale continues from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

On Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. in the Library's main reading room there will be a reading of the award-winning entries from the Poetry/Short Prose Contest sponsored by the Sampson-Livermore Library and the Kiwanis of Robeson. Prior to that, there will be a short business meeting of the UNCP Friends of the Library and recognition of campus authors. Following the reading there will be a reception upstairs in the leisure reading area.

Come out and change your world with us.

Library Displays Highlight Material

by Nickie Blanton, Robert Arndt, and Michael Alewine

Waiting at the Circulation Desk to check out a book? Waiting for a friend or group to show up for a study session? Check out the displays while you wait. Sampson-Livermore Library has been developing displays at the entrance and in the main reading room to highlight and make people aware of various items in the collections.

"Our goal is to get people to read, especially students. They tend to only read what is required for their courses," commented Robert Arndt, Reference/Instructional Services Librarian. "The displays, hopefully, will spark interest in students, staff, and faculty to read outside of their areas of study." The displays feature book covers, portraits of the authors, and the books themselves, as well as related media resources.

The displays were created as part of a collaborative process involving several members of the library staff under the auspices of the Library's Art, Displays, and Exhibits Committee.

Regular displays include those pertaining to UNCP campus authors highlighting faculty publications, National Library Week, and the works of guest authors at the Library's annual benefit and other programs sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

The displays have also promoted national and regional events. For Constitution Day, in September, the Library hosted a display that looked at the national Constitution and "A Celebration of the Freedom of Speech/A Celebration of Open Political Discourse," which highlighted resources that discuss and sometimes openly criticize our leaders and our government—a freedom that does not exist in many other parts of the world. While various academic resources were displayed, controversial authors, such as Al Franken, Rush Limbaugh, Michael Moore, and Michael Savage, were also given a prominent place.

A recent display, "Banned in the USA," featured books that have been banned in various parts of the United States. The books on the list were banned for either graphic language, portrayal of minorities, religion, or sexual situations. Several of the books listed as banned are considered classics such as Of Mice and Men, Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, and Fahrenheit 451.

Sometimes the displays highlight seasonal events. A display this past summer, "Baseball: America's Game" focused on the various baseball materials in the Library's collection. Books on display included the baseball encyclopedias, history of women's baseball, the Negro leagues, minor and textile leagues, and biographies of players and managers. The display included Dr. Robert W. Reising's Jim Thorpe: Tar Heel. Dr. Reising is a retired Professor of English at UNCP.

Other displays have highlighted the Library's collection of material on Native Americans, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Hollywood, and science fiction and fantasy.

If you are in a quandary over what to read, check out one of the Library's displays. Suggestions for new displays are always welcome; please contact one of the authors of this article.

Friends of the Library initiatives such as continued support for three scholarships established to assist students at UNCP, funding the McNaughton leasing program for popular reading materials and movies on DVD, and sponsorship of author-appearance and reading programs. Library staff members Lillian Brewington (910-521-6655) or Nickie Blanton (910-521-6834) may be contacted for tickets and more information. Tickets are $50 each. The event begins at 6:00 p.m. in the Sampson-Livermore Library and dressy business attire is suggested. Come out, enjoy, and participate in a lively, entertaining, and worthwhile benefit to help UNCP students and the Sampson-Livermore Library.
