PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Master of Arts in Art Education:

The M.A.: Art Education program is intended to serve as an extension of the established undergraduate art education program and provide individualization of instruction and program offerings beyond the baccalaureate for those individuals who wish to pursue a higher level of achievement in their chosen field.

The Master of Arts in Art Education program will extend the NCDPI competencies currently required for initial “A” licensure by extending the art educator’s knowledge base and competencies by analytically reading art education professional literature, analyzing and discussing art education publications, theories, current practices in education and research. The program will extend the educator’s competencies through self-reflection and self evaluation of planning skills, computer competencies, as well as through advance study of curriculum content, methods of organizing and preparing for instruction (including the diverse students), materials, the classroom environment, leadership, and knowledge of the students and their needs. With this additional knowledge and experience, the art teacher will be prepared to take the role of a collaborative leader and the responsibilities for guiding colleagues in their planning.

The Master of Arts in Teaching:

The Master of Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.) is an interdisciplinary degree option within the Teacher Education degree program. The M.A.T. is intended for graduates from accredited colleges or universities with an undergraduate major in humanities, sciences, or social sciences that have few, if any, formal courses in education. The program is available only to those individuals who have not earned licensure and who are seeking licensure in the teaching field in which they wish to earn the degree. Degrees in closely related fields may be acceptable; transcripts will be evaluated and any discipline-specific prerequisites will be specified at the time of admission to a program.

The program will include graduate work in the teaching pedagogy and advanced professional education coursework. A 3-hour (10 week) internship is required if the candidate does not provide appropriate documentation of at least one year of successful K-12 teaching experience.

It is recommended that the M.A.T. graduate candidates complete four or five courses (EDN 512, 550, 580, 582 and Art 506) and a ten week internship before they take other graduate courses, which serve as an extension of the established undergraduate art education program and provide individualization of instruction and program offerings. Their student teaching classroom experiences will extend classroom information with practicality and enhance their understanding of content information and knowledge, research, student learning and styles, dispositions, leadership, mentoring, technology, and diverse populations (characteristics, adaptations and modifications for lessons, content and curriculum).

The Master of Arts in Teaching degree program was developed according to Standards for Program Approval by the North Carolina Department of Education. It addresses the North Carolina Initial and Advanced Competencies, which include standards in Instructional Expertise, Knowledge of Learners, Research Expertise, Connecting Subject Matter and Learners, and Professional Development. The graduate program reflects the conceptual framework that is common to all teacher education programs at UNCP.
