

Lab Safety : Lab Coat

Lab coats protect your skin from hazardous materials (e.g. chemicals, biologicals, radiological).

Not wearing a lab coat can cause damage and holes in clothing. It can also result in skin burns, dis-figurement, and skin contamination to areas like the wrist. .

Environmental Health and Safety Office

128 A Facilities Drive | P.O. Box 1510 | Pembroke, NC 28372 | T: 910.521.6792

www.uncp.edu/safety | email: safety@uncp.edu