

2019 Project ACCESS Summer Residential Camps

Project ACCESS (Achieving College Opportunities, Community Engagement, and Student Success) is an initiative funded by the U.S. Department of Education's Office of Indian Education. It is a grant funded by the U.S. Department of Education's Office of Indian Education through a partnership between the Lumbee Tribe of North Carolina, the Public Schools of Robeson County, Robeson Community College, and the University of North Carolina at Pembroke.

The goal of Project ACCESS is to improve access to higher education and career preparedness for American Indian youth of Robeson County. The initiative will engage Native youth, their families, and their tribal communities to be active participants in the process.

About Project ACCESS Summer Camps:

1. The Project ACCESS Summer Camps are FREE camps held at UNC Pembroke.
2. Applicants will select one (1) of the dates below to attend.
3. Each camp will host American Indian high school rising freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors that attend the Public Schools of Robeson County.
4. The program will expose the students to campus life and teach them about the admission and financial aid process as well as test tasking strategies. Students will complete a college application and essay, develop a resume, and practice interview skills. Participants will also participate in cultural and recreational activities. Parents are invited to participate in the last day of the camp to learn more about higher education and financial aid.

Camp Dates:

- June 23-26
- July 7-10
- July 14-17
- July 21-24
