Lecturer in Management

The University of North Carolina at Pembroke's School of Business invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure track instructor in Management. The anticipated start date for the position is August 2019. The standard teaching load is four courses per semester. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate (MBA) classes in Management as follows: Organization and Management, Business Communications, Organizational Leadership, International Management, Human Resource Management, Small Business Management, Operations Management, and Business Strategy. Course assignments may be during the daytime or evening, and may include off-campus locations and online delivery. In addition to course assignments, the successful candidate will advise students, contribute to curriculum development, serve on various committees, and assume other instructional and service-related duties as assigned.

Salary is competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications.

The School of Business is accredited by the Association for Advancement of Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB).

Founded in 1887, The University of North Carolina at Pembroke is a public, four-year master's degree-granting member institution of the University of North Carolina system that is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. In every respect, a key aim of The University of North Carolina at Pembroke is to effect positive change through education. On a fundamental level, the School of Business at The University of North Carolina at Pembroke strives to provide each student an outstanding business education through Bachelor of Science degrees in Business Administration (with concentrations in Management, Marketing, International Business, Entrepreneurship, Finance, and Economics) and Accounting as well as a Master of Business Administration degree delivered by highly qualified faculty and staff in a collegial, supportive, and achievement-oriented work environment. Pembroke is a quiet, safe community located off Interstate 95 halfway between Boston and Miami that provides convenient access to many major metro areas of the Carolinas. For example, from campus both the picturesque mountains of western North Carolina and the world-famous beaches and resorts of the Carolina coastline are within reach.
