Assistant/Associate Professor and Pre-Licensure Director

The University of North Carolina at Pembroke (UNCP) invites qualified applicants to apply for a full-time tenure track faculty position. Educational preparation and clinical expertise in nursing required. An individual in this position will teach in the pre-licensure program during the academic year and summer session.

UNCP is a master's level degree-granting university and one of 17 schools that comprise the University of North Carolina system. With a total enrollment of more than 6,000 students, the university offers 41 undergraduate and 18 graduate degree programs. The UNCP main campus is in Pembroke, NC, a quiet, safe community within 15 minutes from Lumberton, NC. Located just off Interstate 95 and Interstate 74 at the mid-point between Boston and Miami, the campus is convenient to all major metro areas of the Carolinas as well as world-famous beaches and resorts. UNCP is a dynamic educational institution committed to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service.

The successful candidate's primary responsibilities include assisting the nursing faculty team in curriculum design and review, role modeling classroom and clinical instruction, advising undergraduate students, participating in departmental governance as well as official activities of the Department of Nursing, College of Health Science, and the University.

Other responsibilities include contributing to the development of the nursing profession through research and scholarship as well as engaging in community and professional service associated with the area of expertise.

Salaries are competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications. Rank is open and depends on the qualifications and achievements of the candidate, but no higher than the rank currently held at another university.
