b. Interim Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs – Dr. Zoe Locklear

- i. Comments from the Provost (see above under IV. a. i.)

V. Reports of Committees

a. Operations Committees

- i. Executive Committee – Dr. Joe West, Chair – Dr. West welcomed the new elected Provost and gave her the floor for a few comments

1. Welcome, Dr. Pollard – Dr. Pollard thanked Drs. West and Locklear for their introductions and announced her arrival on campus in mid-May. Dr. Pollard spoke of the role of the faculty in developing academic programs and initiatives as well as faculty interactions with students which ultimately result in student success. Upon her arrival on campus, Dr. Pollard is planning on meeting with department chairs, attending department meetings in the fall, and meeting with individual faculty members to get to know their professional backgrounds, perspectives, and priorities for the university. Dr. Pollard announced that she has a university email that the faculty can use it to contact her directly.
2. Special Committee to investigate the need for GenEd revisions. Dr. Normandy suggested that we not launch this committee until the start of the fall semester. Thoughts? - No comments from the Senators.
3. Faculty Evaluation of Administrators Update – Dr. West reported that he is waiting on Institutional Research data that would allow sending anonymous and individualized invitations using Survey Monkey. The faculty was assured that their honest replies would not be traced and that everyone's identity would be protected.
4. Faculty Senate Meeting Format Survey Results (Appendix B) – Results indicated that the decision on the Faculty Senate meeting format should be made at the beginning of next semester. However, Dr. West noted that the present attendance at the Faculty Senate meetings on Webex averages about 50+ people and that no such numbers have ever been seen in face-to-face meetings. Dr. West continued that expectations are that the Faculty Senate Chair-elect, Holden Hansen, will work with the Executive Committee and decide on the structure of the Faculty Senate meetings for Fall 2022. One Senator asked for clarification about when would the information be conveyed to the Senators. Dr. West replied that the first meeting of Fall 2022 would be on Webex and that during that meeting Senators would learn if any changes would occur for future meetings.
5. New BOG University Funding Model – Dr. West commented on the possibility that the new BOG Funding Model would decrease funding for UNCP. According to Dr. West, the new funding model is linear and does not control for variables associated with socioeconomic conditions in the area. Dr. West encouraged faculty members and Senators to become involved in understanding the BOG's funding model, work towards changes that need to be executed in the funding model, become a little more politically active and express their concerns that the funding model treats South and Eastern North Carolina unfairly. Interim Provost Locklear added to Dr. West's comments that Interim Vice Chancellor for Finance & Administration (CFO) Charles Leffler will provide an update on the funding model at the General Faculty Meeting in May.

(Vote Required) New Business Item: Follett All-Access Proposal (Appendix C) – Dr. West began by informing the Senate that the item in Appendix C does not contain any specific details but rather is a marketing slide. Follet was invited to give an overall overview of the “Follet ACCESS Course Materials for All (All Access).” Ms. Amy Turpin (Follet Academic Program Manager) began by sharing Appendix C and informed the Senate that she was going to talk about Follet's equitable access. Ms. Turpin summarized that 96% of the students know what books they need, 60% of them wait until the first day of classes to purchase their books, and 33% of the students do not buy their required books (due to many different reasons). Ms. Turpin pointed out that students pay thousands of dollars in tuition and fees (food, athletics, etc.) that are not directly tied to their academic success, but books, that are directly tied to their academic success are not part of students' tuition and fees. Ms. Turpin continued by saying that with the new model, for a credit hour fee, All Access program will give equitable access to students for all their required books on the first day of classes. According to Ms. Turpin, this opt-out model works because Follet will buy in bulk from the publishers at deeper discounts [passing those savings (30-80% depending on the format of the delivery) to the students] and the students will have all their digital course materials with one-click access (e-book, courseware, etc.) through their LMS. Ms. Turpin reassured the Senate that there is no loss of academic freedom as all publishers can be used, including Open Education Resources (OERs) as well as printed materials. According to Ms. Turpin, there are about 325 of these programs across the country, and the student opt-out averages are about 2-3% (students find the program great and therefore they do not opt out). Follet claims that several academic departments have done their own assessments and concluded that All Access dramatically impacts enrollment, retention, and ultimately grades. In contrast, Ms. Turpin referred to cases when students use the two-week free code provided by the publishers for access to the publisher's online platform. After the two weeks, students that do not purchase access immediately will no longer have access to their course materials and assignments therefore, they start getting zeros, end up falling behind on their assignments, and consequently, students drop out of those courses. Ms. Turpin informed the Senate that with the adoption of the new program, faculty will be switched from their current course-by-course model into a campus-wide model. As for Follet-student communications, Ms. Turpin informed the Senate that emails will be sent to all students before classes start, informing them of their digital or physical books (the latter to be picked up at the bookstore) therefore guaranteeing the availability of all materials on the first day of classes. Ms. Turpin spoke of students' love of the Follet All Access program and reported that surveyed students appreciated the instant gratification (having their materials available on the first day of classes, the convenience of not having to shop around, and having current book editions) and that was more important to them than cost. Ms. Louisa Blink (Follet Regional Manager) added that the Access program has been on the UNCP campus for two and half years on a course-by-course model (33% of Summer I offerings and 15% of the Fall sections will be using the Access program). Ms. Blink informed the Senate that UNCP's Access program keeps growing and that there is great support from the faculty involved.

Dr. West opened the floor for discussion and stated that he was personally concerned that UNCP students were going to end up paying more under this program considering that Follet is in the business to make money. Ms. Cindy Most (new UNCP Bookstore Manager) informed the Senate that she has been with Follet for 15 years and wanted to add that Follet would not make money if Follet would not be able to find the best prices for students. Ms. Most continued by speaking of the partnership between Follet and the University and the desire to reduce costs to the students. Ms. Most reassured the Senate that All Access program allows the faculty to use the best and newest products (for a reduced price to students) and allows students to get the best quality education. Ms. Most described the current situation on campus in which students get access codes that cost over $100 per access code per course, just to work on their homework (science classes are great examples). Ms. Most described another situation in which a student would come into the bookstore and buy her books every time she would get a paycheck simply because she could not afford to pay for all her books at the beginning of classes. Ms. Most concluded her remarks by saying that with the All Access program students would no longer struggle to pay for their books, all materials would be available to them on the first day, and students would not need to spend time searching the Internet to find the cheapest books while worrying if they would receive those on time.

From the Senate Meeting floor questions and answers:

Question 1: Why is Follet following an opt-out instead of an opt-in model? A: Opt-in is a choice that students must make and therefore no different than having to decide to purchase their materials; with an opt-out model, the pricing is not as discounted because Follet would not be able to guarantee to the publishers the number of students in the program. Florida schools were used as an example to demonstrate that an opt-in program was not very successful because the benefits of having the materials available on the first day of classes were not there and that very quickly, those schools changed to opt-out because of the benefits of having the materials available on the first day. Question 2: When does the opt-out period start, how long does it last, and how are students notified that they could opt-out? A: The product is released to students about 10 days before classes start, and the drop-out period lasts until the last day of add/drop period followed by the campus. Communications go out via email to all students with all the instructions about the program and the links to opt-out. Follet in conjunction with UNCP is planning on the creation of a webpage with Follet All Access program information.

Question 3: Are there any compensations or discounts that go back to UNCP? Kim Locklear, UNCP Interim Director of Auxiliary & Business Services replied that the contract that is currently being renewed with Follet does include revenues based on sales that will revert to UNCP. The contract has not been finalized, being that All Access is still being considered. CFO Charles Leffler contributed to the conversation by saying that the contract is a sales commission and that the money received by the university is used for several purposes. Mr. Leffler continued by saying that the present opportunity is that it is going to save students dollars on their total book cost if All Access would be something that faculty and students would support. If the proposal does not pass Follet can continue to implement Access on a course-by-course basis while losing the lower cost that is driven by bulk buying.

Question 4: How was the 1.3 M in projected savings, calculated? A: It is the calculated difference from the per credit hour price that is being proposed over the calculated averages of the current fall and spring adoptions (rental, purchase new and used, digital prices, one-time codes, online subscriptions, interactive textbooks, etc.), overall classes, and all students. Dr. West showed a strong interest in looking at those calculations and asked Follet to share those with the Senate or himself ASAP.

Question 5: Can different sections of the same course use different materials? A: Yes.

Question 6: Can small publishers be used? A: Yes, all publishers large or small can be part of the All Access program. In other words, no matter what the faculty choices are, printed or online, or what the sources are, it can all be rolled into All Access program provided that the publishers would sell their items to Follet. OERs are also encouraged into this program as they will contribute to the lowest per credit hour cost. Follet is a company that makes money not by price gouging the students but by getting the prices down and getting all the materials to the students and staying relevant on the campus. Although students will be paying per credit hour on classes that use OERs, they might significantly save money on another class. Follet is willing to do studies on the UNCP campus and calculate the savings that would occur over a two-year period. As with tuition costs, which are the same for students that get two very different degrees, for example, English and Engineering, books are no different.

Question 7: Can the instructor request all materials to be printed taking into consideration that UNCP is in a low socioeconomic index (SEI) area with compromised bandwidth and limited Internet? A: The university determines the All Access delivery format, and all classes will use the format that was prioritized in the contractual agreement. For example, a digital prioritized program means that every required book has the potential to be digital and if no digital book is available, Follet will look for a physical book for it. Question 8: What kinds of accommodations are there for different types of students? A: Online students will have their books shipped to them (either they pay a flat shipping fee, or the shipping price is rolled into the books' price) or they will have them available digitally depending on the delivery format adopted by the institution. Question 9: Is the All Access add/drop automatic and does it match the students add/drop of their classes? A: If the student drops a class the provisions of their products also get dropped and if there is a physical book, the students will have to return the book to the bookstore. Question 10: What exactly is on the Agenda to be voted on? A: The interest level of the faculty in All Access is being measured via the Faculty Senate. SGA representatives were also contacted for their feedback and consideration.

In summary, UNCP faculty concerns are that what is good for the corporation (Follet) may not necessarily be good for UNCP students. The opt-out model feeds that concern as students must purposely choose not to be involved. Situations where students might miss or not read emails, or not engage or act when they see those emails, will result in students being locked into the program with no way to get out. Furthermore, the cost will be very different by discipline as some majors will benefit while other majors will not. It was noticed that the cost comparison made by Follet seems to only include costs that students would incur if they would buy Follet products, however, a lot of the UNCP students do not buy their materials from the bookstore. It is imperative for the Senate to have the cost comparison numbers between what students are paying right now and what they will be paying with All Access program.

As no more questions were presented to the floor Dr. West proceeded with the meeting by stating that it appeared that the will of the body was to get more information before a vote would be held as no motion was made to take any action on Follet's All Access program. Without a vote, the contract with Follet will move forward without the *All Access program being included in the contract.

ii. Committee on Committees & Elections – Dr. Tara Busch, Chair

1. Election Results:

- a) Promotion and Tenure Committee At-Large (Term: 2022-2025): Jennifer Wells
- b) Faculty Awards Committee At-Large (Term: 2022-2025): David Young
- c) The alternate delegate to the UNC Faculty Assembly (Term: 2022-2025): Bryan Winters
- d) Faculty Hearing Committee: Ryan Anderson, Cynthia (Cyndi) Miecznikowski, Renee Lamphere
- e) Faculty Grievance Committee (Term: 2022-2025): Cindy Locklear, Roger Ladd, and Jennifer Jones-Locklear

2. Positions needing to be filled - We are currently seeking nominations for:
 - a) Oversight of the Faculty Handbook Committee, CHS, and SBS (Term: Fall 2022-2025) – Dr. Busch spoke of how hard has been to fill the Oversight of the Faculty Handbook Committee positions but considering that Faculty Governance is looking into potentially changing the structure of this committee perhaps that will help for the future.
 - b) Two Faculty Conciliators. We have so far Silvia Smith, and Jennifer Jones-Locklear but SGA would like us to have four and then they vote for one – Dr. Busch announced that this item was asked in the preference poll so the hope is that two more people will be added to the poll.
3. Committee Assignment Preference Poll:
 - a) We have sent a poll to all faculty to determine individual preferences for appointed faculty governance positions. This poll is due back to us by April 5th by 5 pm – Dr. Busch reported that in a preliminary analysis of the poll results, there are concerns that certain divisions (NSM, LETT) lack participation. The preference poll was sent to over 300 faculty members and 103 responses were received, many of those saying that they did not want to be part of any committee. Another announcement and request will be sent out and Chairs and Deans will be asked individually to talk to their faculty in the different divisions and encourage them to complete the survey. Dr. West added that Deans have always been very supportive of the Faculty Senate committee structure.
 - b) We will meet to nominate individuals (based on their poll preferences)
 - 1) All members of Faculty Senate Subcommittees
 - 2) The Faculty Governance Committee
 - 3) The Budget Advisory Committee
 - 4) The faculty members of the Health, Safety, and Environment Committee
 - 5) Six non-Senate faculty members on the Academic Information Technology Committee
 - 6) Three non-Senate faculty members on the Student Affairs and Campus Life Committee
 - 7) One member of the Student Publications Board
 - c) We notify folks of their assignments via email no later than one week prior to the last meeting of the Faculty Senate. Dr. West extended his appreciation to Dr. Busch and her committee for filling one of the most unpopular roles of the Executive Committee and for working hard on making everything streamlined.
- iii. Committee on Faculty Governance – Dr. Carla Rokes, Chair
 1. Governance Update – Dr. Rokes was not at the meeting.
- iv. Committee on the Oversight of the Faculty Handbook – Mr. Holden Hansen, Chair
 1. Faculty Handbook Update – Mr. Hansen wanted to put on the record that the Committee verified the changes made to the Faculty Handbook last year as documented on signed routing forms. Minor typos were found, and they will be fixed in due course. The committee will be ready to report in the May meeting if all changes to the Faculty Handbook were made as documented in last year's Minutes. The committee is also reviewing the Faculty Handbook Section II, Chapter 2.

The Conference Carolinas has been a great fit both competitively and philosophically and has allowed for shorter trips (from 270 to 190 miles). In the Conference Carolinas, the academic success metric rate takes into consideration retention and successful completion of graduation within a 6-year. UNCP’s goal is to win the Conference Mind Body and Soul Award. Mr. Christy also reported on women’s golf which won its 1st conference championship in 8 years and will compete next in the NCAA a Southeast Regional. As tenure-track faculty members do, Lecturers have organizational responsibility for the courses they teach. They also adhere to departmental guidelines for course content if any exist. They perform service for the department or school (including the Faculty Senate and its subcommittees), and can be assigned student advising responsibilities. Supervision and mentoring of lecturers will be done in the same manner as for tenure-track faculty. Lecturers are eligible for long-term contracts and to be promoted to Senior Lecturers. Initial appointment is for a fixed term of one year. Subsequent appointments may be made for fixed terms of from one to five years.

Promotion to Senior Lecturer is based on continued improvement in and demonstration of excellence in teaching with at least satisfactory performance in service activities. After serving as a Lecturer at UNCP for five years, a Lecturer may notify the Chair of his or her department in writing that he or she wishes to apply for promotion to Senior Lecturer; the notification must be made by August 1st of the year in which the evaluation will take place. The evaluation will follow the procedures used for promotion to professorial ranks, with the exception that the applicant's professional academic activities may be evaluated in the place of scholarly achievement.

As tenure-track faculty members do, Senior Lecturers have organizational responsibility for the courses they teach. They also adhere to departmental guidelines for course content if any exist. Senior Lecturers may participate in course and curriculum development and advise students. Senior Lecturers may also contribute to the school or department beyond teaching-related activities through campus service (including the faculty senate and its subcommittees) and academic discipline professional activities. Initial appointment as a Senior Lecturer is for a fixed term of one year. Subsequent appointments may be made for fixed terms of from one to five years.

Subsequent appointments may be made for fixed terms of from one to five years.

Promotion to Senior Lecturer is based on time in the rank of lecturer and an average annual review of at least satisfactory performance. Unless promoted earlier, promotion to the rank of Senior Lecturer will occur at the end of a Lecturer's fifth year after Lecturers provide copies of their Annual Merit Salary Increase Recommendation Form to their Dean, which shows a five-year average annual review status with at least adequate performance.

A written notice from the Dean to the Provost and the Department of Human Resources documenting a Lecturer's less than adequate annual review status will be necessary to stop an automatic promotion to Senior Lecturer at the end of the Lecturer's fifth year. The Lecturer shall be notified in writing by the Dean no later than the last day of class during the spring semester in the event of a promotion denial.

Senior Lecturers, once promoted, will be automatically transitioned to three (minimum), four, or five-year (maximum) contracts at the discretion of the Dean, Provost, or Chancellor. Subsequent appointments may be made for fixed terms from three (minimum), four, or five-year (maximum) contracts at the discretion of the Dean, Provost, or Chancellor. The percentage salary increase associated with promotion to Senior Lecturer status should, whenever possible, mirror the percentage salary increase associated with promotion from Assistant Professor to Associate Professor.

FAYETTEVILLE STATE UNIVERSITY

Advanced Placement Program (AP)

Many high schools offer advanced classes to superior students in conjunction with the Advanced Placement Program of the College Entrance Examination Board. The university awards college credits in most areas for scores of 3 (good), 4 (high honors), or 5 (high honors). To be eligible for credit, students must request the College Board to send an official score report to the Office of Admissions for review.

NCCU

Credit for formal advanced placement programs (AP/IB) and credit by formal examination programs are awarded in accordance with the appropriate national norms established for such programs. These norms and standards are available in the undergraduate Admissions Office and the University Testing Center.

The Peer Evaluation Committee

A Peer Evaluation Committee's first task is to elect a chair who then notifies the Department Chair of his or her election. The Peer Evaluation Committee is responsible for preparing and submitting a Peer Evaluation Report in decisions involving tenure and/or promotion, as well as for contract renewal evaluations.

The report is based on documentation submitted by the faculty member being evaluated, classroom observations, and external review if called for. The Peer Evaluation Committee is responsible for gathering appropriate information, assessing its implications, and formulating a coherent evaluation of the faculty member's performance. The Peer Evaluation Committee is given access to the faculty member's entire portfolio including previous annual chair Evaluations. However, no discussion should take place between the Peer Evaluation Committee and the Department Chair (or between the Peer Evaluation Committee and the Dean in the case of a Department chair) during the course of the review.

In preparing the Peer Evaluation Report for a faculty member, a Peer Evaluation Committee should use the Format for Evaluation Reports and be guided by the Standard Performance Rating Scale. Serious consideration must be given to the area weights on the faculty member's Self-Evaluation Report(s) as well as the department's Disciplinary Statements. In cases of tenure and/or promotion review, the Peer Evaluation Committee Report must include sufficient information to justify the Committee's decision.

Peer Evaluation Committee Eligibility

Peer Evaluation Committee members should be at or above the rank sought by the faculty candidate. No more than one member should come from outside the candidate's department. When circumstances dictate, however, the Department Chair may appoint additional members from outside the candidate's department or below the rank sought with the approval of the Dean and Provost. Department chairs outside the candidate's department and faculty members in phased retirement are eligible to serve. Members of the Promotion and Tenure Committee (PTC) are ineligible to serve on PECs in Tenure/Promotion evaluations; however, they may serve on PECs of evaluations that are not seen by the Promotion and Tenure Committee (Contract Renewal, Post-Tenure Review-only). Prohibited from serving on a Peer Evaluation Committee are the Department Chair of the faculty member's department, faculty members above the rank of department chair (including Assistant Deans), and any faculty member undergoing the same type of evaluation during the same academic year (Contract Renewal, Tenure/Promotion, or Post-Tenure Review). A faculty member simultaneously undergoing Tenure/Promotion and Post-Tenure-Review evaluations may not serve as a PEC member for either type of evaluation. Faculty members undergoing review during the same academic year may not serve on each other's PECs, regardless of the types of evaluation.

From pp. 88-89 of the Faculty Handbook (PDF version)

Responsibilities of the Department Chair

Department Chairs are responsible for notifying a faculty member in writing by August 15 of the evaluation year that a mandatory contract renewal or tenure evaluation is due. Additionally, Department Chairs are responsible for establishing Peer Evaluation Committees, conducting classroom observations of teaching, preparing and submitting all Chair's Evaluation Reports that are required for contract renewal and tenure and/or promotion decisions, and completing the Tenure, Promotion, and Renewal Forms.

The Department Chair obtains the completed Peer Evaluation Committee Nomination Form from the candidate (forms available at the website for the Office of Academic Affairs at <https://www.uncp.edu/resources/academic-affairs/academic-affairs-forms>). The chair appoints three faculty members to the Peer Evaluation Committee (see previous section on Peer Evaluation Committee Eligibility). ~~Department Chairs from departments other than that of the evaluated faculty member may also serve on Peer Evaluation Committees.~~ The Department Chair is obligated to appoint the candidate's assured nominee so long as the nominee is qualified, but the Department Chair is free to substitute other qualified faculty members for the two remaining positions. ~~This is also true for Contract Renewal evaluations. It is strongly advised that all members of the Peer Evaluation Committee be tenured members of the evaluated faculty member's home department; however, when circumstances dictate, other choices may be made. Ideally, the members of the Committee should be faculty whose rank is equal to or higher than that sought by the candidate but other choices may be made by the Department Chair to ensure disciplinary representation. Faculty members in phased retirement are eligible to serve.~~

~~In a three-person department, the third department member is automatically appointed to the Committee unless he or she is also being considered for tenure and/or promotion or contract renewal. Prohibited from serving on a Peer Evaluation Committee are the Department Chair of the faculty member's department, members of the Promotion and Tenure Committee, and any faculty member undergoing contract renewal or tenure and/or promotion evaluation during the same academic year.~~

Appendix O

(FIAC Appendix B)

Specify Authority of Provost to make non-substantial changes related to digital Faculty Evaluation Portfolio System.

The Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs

The Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs is responsible for making recommendations about a faculty member's salary increases, merit salary increases, tenure, promotion, and contract renewal to the Chancellor based on recommendations and materials submitted by the Department Chair and other evaluators. The Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs is also responsible for establishing and maintaining a general climate conducive to successful implementation of the Faculty Evaluation Model and for fostering conditions in which high levels of faculty achievement can occur. The Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs may modify deadlines in the evaluation process as circumstances warrant. The Provost, in consultation with the chairs of the Faculty Evaluation Review Subcommittee, the Faculty and Institutional Affairs Committee, and the Faculty Senate, shall also have the authority to make non-substantial changes in the execution of the Faculty Evaluation Model as related to evolving technologies and features in our digital Faculty Evaluation portfolio system. The Faculty Evaluation Review Subcommittee will adjudicate whether a proposed change is substantial in the event of uncertainty.

In reviewing Department Chairs' and Dean's salary recommendations, the Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs should balance the need for institutional accountability with the need to provide equitable opportunities for annual merit salary increases. In cases of tenure, promotion, and contract renewal, the recommendations of the Dean and Provost to the Chancellor should provide the faculty member with a fair, reasonable decision that adheres to the tenets of the Faculty Evaluation Model and serves the interests of the University.

9:00 AM: Call to Order, Welcome, and Approval of the Minutes of the January 14, 2022 meeting - Dr. Timothy J. Ives

Dr. Ives started by giving an overview of today's Faculty Assembly issues for today. He has sent several names for the Project Kitty Hawk Academic Advisory Group from our body and asked for a few more. There will be another report about the Refresh of the UNC System Strategic Plan, ongoing work on the Common Numbering System (CNS) Project and the Academic Advising Group for Project Kitty Hawk. Of special note: there is a new Kitty Hawk podcast: <https://iei.ncsu.edu/podcasts/firstinfuture264/>.

Dr. Ives is concerned that all campuses stay safe and that safety first is our priority. The UNC Board of Governors meets next week and will include ongoing discussion of the proposed funding model changes by the Budget and Finance Committee. Faculty Assembly elections will be held in April.

The minutes from the January 14, 2022, Faculty Assembly meeting were approved by a majority vote. Our next meeting will be a hybrid event, with an in-person option in Chapel Hill on April 22, 2022.

Panel Discussion of Faculty Leadership Programs across North Carolina: Keynote Speaker: Junius J. Gonzales, M.D., Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, New York Institute of Technology

Panelists: Richard D. Starnes, Ph.D., Provost, Western Carolina University; Patricia Bricker, Ed.D., Professor and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, College of Education and Allied Professions, Western Carolina University; David Powers, M.B.A., Member, UNC System Board of Governors, and Chair, Committee on University Governance

The “Toward Next-Level Faculty Leadership” presentation began with Dr. Starnes and Mr. Powers asking, “what is faculty leadership and what is it needed for?” Dr. Starnes stated that faculty leadership is critical for curriculum development, the health of the campus and for the ability of faculty to serve in leading the institution. Dr. Bricker discussed the variety of forms faculty leadership can take and that taking part in leadership development can mean stepping outside individual areas of expertise or passion. It is helpful in thinking about the institution in larger ways and in seeing how individual work fits into the mission of the institution. Governor Powers shared that leadership development ensures that the faculty voice is heard when decisions are made throughout the university and helps with succession planning and talent development.

Dr. Gonzales gave a presentation focused on developing and sustaining faculty leadership, personal experiences, internal and external elements, benefits, and barriers for faculty and faculty leadership programs. He stated that in these efforts there should be an overarching priority to keep student needs first, along with the values and mission of the universities. The final question for the panel addressed ways to move forward and Dr. Gonzales encouraged every campus to prioritize faculty leadership development programs.

Q & A followed among faculty and panelists.

David Powers, M.B.A., UNC System Board of Governors, Chair of Committee on University Governance - Report from the Committee on University Governance

Chair Ives introduced Governor Powers again to give an update from the University Governance Committee. This committee is charged with oversight in all legal matters and policy making. Its creation was a requirement that came out of House Bill 137, regarding free speech policies. Governor Powers said that there is current work being done on free speech by UNC-Chapel Hill faculty. The committee is also working on a new funding model for UNC campuses that is under discussion and will be voted on at the April Board of Governors meeting. He said, “They are looking at how growth fits into each university’s mission. They want to make things better and fairer for all the schools, to help everyone grow and stay strong.” He added there will be a vote on this by the Budget & Finance Committee as well as University Governance.

Michelle Solér, Ph.D., Director for Undergraduate Education & Assessment - Update on the UNC System Common Numbering System (CNS) Project

Michelle Solér, Director for Undergraduate Education & Assessment gave an update on the CNS Project. UNC Policy 400.1.5 is the UNC System Common Numbering System Project. Its initial pilot program included math, biology, and chemistry, looking at which courses are already aligned, which are prominent in each discipline and what tuition differences exist. The new numbers are not to create a common catalog, but, instead, are generated from the UNC System Office. Since collecting disciplinary knowledge and departmental knowledge of course offering, they are now ready to move forward with plans to identify a disciplinary coordinator for each discipline and create an operational database, projected to be active in the spring of 2023. The completed research and final goals will be presented to the Board of Governors in May 2022.

Special Recognition of James G. Ptaszynski, Ph.D., UNC System Vice President for Digital Learning, for his work over the years and to celebrate his retirement.

Discussion of the April Elections process, with expectations of members serving on the Faculty Assembly Executive Committee

Dr. Ives encouraged the committees to continue their work between now and the next Faculty Assembly meeting, Apr 22, 2022, in Chapel Hill.

The meeting adjourned with no objections at 11:41 AM.
